THE NEW INTERPRETER.

Queſt. WHat is the King?

A. A Charles Stuart.

Q. what is C. R.

A. King of Great Brittaine, as much as of France, or Ireland.

Q. what is the Queene?

A. A Subject, an Incendiarie, an over active Lady.

Q. The Prince?

A. A Heire apparent of the time being.

Q. The Lords and Commons?

A. The Parliament.

Q. The Parliament?

A. A perpetuall Senate, an omnipotent Counſell, an Oracle, an Ephod.

Q. The Biſhops?

A. Popes, Antichriſts.

Q. Prince Rupert?

A. A plundering Coward, a Witch, an Icubus, a Devill.

Q. The Earle of Eſſex?

A. His Excellency, the Lord of Hoſts.

Q. The Lord Say?

A. A perpetuall Dictator.

Q. Cavaleeres?

A. Rogues, Rattle-heads, Dammees, Canibals, Engliſh Midlanites.

Q. Round-heads?

A. Zelots, Reformers, men of gifts, Saints.

Q. Loyall Subjects?

A. Malignants, Delinquents, Prelaticall party, popiſh affected, enemies to the State.

Q. Traytors and Rebels?

A. Confiding men, true Patryots Confeſſors, Martyrs.

Q. The five Members?

A. Lovers of vertue, maintainers of the Goſpell, Zealous for the publique good, the Worthies of our Age.

Q. Royall Prerogative?

A. Very and empty nothing.

Q. The Kings Proclamations?

A. Printed papers, Ballads, Libels.

Q. His Poſſe Regni?

A. The new Militia.

Q. His Army?

A. The Enemy.

Q. He muſt and ſhall,

A. Anſwer their humble Petition.

Q. Votes and Ordinances?

A. The Lawes of the Land, unknowne, deepe, fundamentall.

Q. The Eſſence of a Parliament?

A. Choyce Committees.

Q. The Proteſtant Religion by Law eſtabliſhed?

A. Popery, Superſtition, Idolatry.

Q. Browniſme and Anabaptiſme?

A. Proteſtant Religion, reformed, refined.

Q. The Common Prayer Booke?

A. A Meſſe of Pottage, the Maſſe in Engliſh.

Q. The Paternoſter?

A. A forme of abſolute Petitions, a Popiſh Innovaſion.

Q. The Creed?

A. In one Article to be expunged.

Q. The Commandements?

A. Impoſſible precepts, nothing to us.

Q. A free Synod?

A. A Convocation of Downings, Burgiſſes, Calamies, Caſes, Woodcocks, Peters, Evans, &c.

Q. Arbitrary Government?

A. Legiſtative power.

Q. Freedome of Votes?

A. Breach of Priviledges.

Q. Such a one ſhall bee?

A. Free Election of Members.

Q. Fractious Spirits?

A. The repreſentative Body.

Q. Catch that catch can?

A. Proprietie of Subjects.

Q. Arme, arme?

A. The peace of the Common-wealth.

Q. Kill and ſlay?

A. The Libertie of the Subject.

Q. The new Fortifications?

A. Workes to keepe out Prince Ruperts Dog.

Q. Faigned Treaſons?

A. Emminent dangers.

Q. Seditious Sermons?

A. Purity of the Goſpell.

Q. Lying Pamphlets?

A. True and perfect Diurnals, remarkable paſſes for all that deſire to be truely informed. The Kingdomes weekely Intelligence ſent abroad to prevent miſ-informations.

Q. Feares and Jealouſies?

A. A pretence to pick a quarrell and then to cut the throats of all Malignants.

Q. Tumults and uproares?

A. Forcible motives.

Q. A great Gun?

A. The moſt convincing argument.

Q. Impriſoning and baniſhing?

A. Securing of perſons.

Q. Plundering and Stealing?

A. Diſarming, Leavying benevolences and contributions, diſtreſſes, aſſeſments, the Gentlemen Souldiers viſits.

Q. Accommodation?

A. Nineteene Propoſitions and disbanding.

Q. Change of Government in the Church and State?

A. The great Worke, the thorow Reformation, ſetting up Chriſt upon his Throne.

OXFORD, Printed for William Web, 1643.

123107